

I just recently purchased an XM Radio and I am glad to see something like this come along. It is really frustrating when you are wanting to hear the news or weather and you are always having to wait on local stations to finish the advertisements and bad choices of music. I applaud XM and their staff for getting this started for the consumers.